THE sadistic nature of the communist government in Cuba again is demonstrated in renewal negotiations over the Bay of Pigs prisoners.

Castro not only tortures the thousand unfortunate men with threats of execution and long imprisonment. By repeatedly offering freedom, then snatching the offer away, he also torments their mothers and fathers, their wives and children.

The present negotiations, conducted by New York Atty. James B. Donovan, are very much like the tractor deal, engineered by a committee headed by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Walter Reuther and Dr. Milton Eisenhower. When money for the tractors was raised, and the tractors offered, Castro reneged.

While Mr. Donovan acts unofficially, no one denies he has Government sanction and there has been open specula-tion that Government funds are involved in the fortune in drugs, medicine and baby foods offered as ransom.

The use of tax money for this purpose is wrong in principle, degrading in practice, and self-defeating in execution. True, the se poor devils of freedom fighters tried to rescue their homeland from tyranny in the belief, however misguided that the United States Government was much of them. They were recruited on our soil trained on our money and given the "go" signals by our officials. But as they clung to their Cuban beach head, necessary U.S. support was denied to them and Castro herded them up.

In the name of humanity, we tainly owe them something, but there is no evidence to date that we can squirm out by ransom, or blackmail-call it what you will.

The sufferings of these prisoner and their families, are only a file greater than the miseries of the wrote population of Cuba, victims of a persuar revolution which was betrayed to the Kremlin. The United States also favored Castro on the tragically mistaken belief that he was a great liberator from the tyrant, Batista. In comparison, that victous man looks almost benevolent

Communist Cuba is a menace to our security, an insult to our national pride also a load on our conscience which merely is dramatized by the Bay of Pigs prisoners and Castro's cruelly tantalizing treatment of them.

It remains a question just how long all this can be tolerated.
